Even during the best of times, trying to manage an event away from your local office can be difficult. When budgets are tight, this can compound the difficulty especially when having to run multiple day events. This is when Paradym shines; we remove the stress of managing the event décor and design, while at the same time saving you up to 40% on your overall décor budget and maintain the quality you deserve.

How is this done?

We first start off by looking at the overall décor budget and goals of the event(s), such as where are the events being held at, what are the surroundings like, what themes are involved. We then design the events to reflect your ideas without adding extemporaneous items. We then look at ways to reuse some of the items in such a way as to look completely different than the original intent while still maintaining originality in the designs. When on site we are dedicated to your events. We work with the location to ensure every detail is covered, relieving you from this duty so you can focus on other matters during the event

Let Paradym Event show you how we are different and how we are able to provide you an event you might have thought was out of your budget.
